

Investment Objective

The investment objective of the moderate growth strategy is to generate a higher return than its benchmark, net of all fees. The benchmark is made up of 60% of the S&P/TSX Composite Index and 40% of the FTSE TMX Universe Bond Index.

Description

The moderate growth strategy aims to provide income and capital appreciation through investments in individual securities, exchange-traded funds and the Rivemont Absolute Return Fund. At Rivemont, we believe that the price of an asset is not always equal to its intrinsic value since the price is influenced by several factors, including several cognitive biases on the part of investors. Since these biases are known, and repeat themselves over time, it is possible to make investment decisions based on these recurring behaviors. We rely on momentum based strategies including technical analysis and trend monitoring. The manager uses a top-down approach by establishing first which sectors have the highest growth potential to subsequently, within these identified sectors, to select specific securities. The strategy maintains a healthy diversification and constraints are in place to manage risk.

Explanatory notes: Returns are net of all fees (management, custody and commissions) and in Canadian dollars. Returns for the moderate growth strategy are from a composite of identical mandates. The benchmark is made up of 60% of the S&P/TSX Composite Index and 40% of the FTSE TMX Universe Bond Index. The S&P/TSX Composite Index and FTSE TMX Universe Bond Index were chosen as they are widely used benchmarks of the Canadian equity and bond market respectively. While the benchmark for the strategy uses those indices, the strategy is not managed solely as a function of those indices. For example, the strategy may hold foreign securities that are not represented in the indices. Consequently, the strategy may experience periods when its performance differs materially from the strategy's benchmark performance. Future investment results will differ from past results.
